Did you know that art can change your outlook, how you view the world, and even your brain pattern? This week, challenge yourself to get creative by making a quick dry clay bowl.

(Please remember this is not food, microwave, dishwasher, or oven safe!)

You could even leave your art out as a gift for a relative or neighbor to brighten their day. Let's get started in letting your imagination run wild!

MAKE YOUR KNICK KNACK BOWL

Gather household supplies:

Small bowl, piece of plastic wrap that is larger than the bowl

- Tear off marble size piece of clay.
- Roll marble-sized piece and remaining large piece of clay into two round balls.
- Take a large piece of clay and start forming a pinch pot by pressing thumbs into the center and turning clay with fingers pressed together on the opposite side. This should start forming a small bowl.
- Continue thinning and expanding clay by turning and pressing evenly until clay bowl fits snugly into your plastic-lined bowl.
- At this point, you can sculpt into flower petals by pushing with fingers at the rim of the bowl. Sculpt to your liking. A flower image reference helps; book, internet, nature.
- Let your piece dry in the bowl. It should take 1 to 3 days to harden. You can either leave your piece with the natural look or paint it with acrylic or other paints you have available!
- Enjoy – remember, it's not for food!

LEARN MORE:

Look for inspiration in books and online galleries about famous clay artists including Noriko Kuresumi, Eliane Monnin, Linda Lopez, Rachel Boxnboim, and Lorien Stern. Think about how everyday objects can tell a story.

HELP US TO MAKE A GALLERY OF ART:

Submit a picture of your creature using the left-hand "earn prizes section" QR code or to james@waynecenterforthearts.com You could be featured in an artist's gallery!
